Profile

Applied Computer Technology student at OsloMet with hands-on experience in web development, databases, client-facing work, and fast-paced service environments. I currently work at Renow AS, where I contribute to web-related projects, customer-oriented solutions, and development tasks when needed. Alongside my studies, I also work as a Sales Associate at Oscar Jacobson, where I have developed strong communication, customer service, teamwork, and problem-solving skills. I am seeking a technology internship where I can contribute, learn quickly, and further develop my practical software engineering skills.
